Dixon's Garbage Disposal Problem Plagues Council Again

Commissioner Transfers Odor To East Enders

Joe Vaile Promises Sanitary Land-Fill

By HERB HAMES
Telegraph Staff Writer

Dead, unburied garbage led to a mass protest by East End residents at Tuesday night's council meeting.

George Onnen, 1103 Fargo avenue, was spokesman for the group of 25 citizens and charged the city with piling up garbage on the Frank Hughes property just west of the city limits at Fargo avenue.

Onnen said the rubbish, unwrapped, unwashed and unpleasant, was stacked on a hill, with recent rains carrying beer bottles, tin cans and garbage down the incline and into the main drainage ditch through town.

Mayor J. Fred Hofmann answered that the city was obligated to provide dumping sites for trash. He said it was the intention of the council and the garbage department to use a sanitary land-fill method of disposal at the East End dump.

Echoing results of the last two incinerator elections, in which the council and incinerator were first barely beaten and then soundly trounced, the mayor said the land-fill method was approved by city voters.

The mayor, sympathizing with the plight of East End residents who suddenly saw garbage trucks, public and private, suddenly start dumping operations next to their homes, said he'd go along if any other convenient site could be obtained for refuse.

Onnen answered that it was not the duty of East End residents to find garbage sites and objected to the theory that citizens of the rest of Dixon could impose unsanitary conditions on the East End.

Can Vaccine Check TB in Community? Doc Says Yes

Columbus, Ga., April 26.—(AP)—If a vaccine called "BCG" will check tuberculosis in Japan and on an Indian reservation, why won't it work in a normal U. S. community?

"And," he added, "somebody has got to raise hell until this country wakes up to that fact. I guess I'm the guy to do it."

BCG is a preventive, not a cure. Developed in 1923 by two French scientists, Calmette and Guerin, it got its three-letter name from them: Bacillus of Calmette and Guerin.

Dr. O'Brien, president of the American Association of Thoracic Surgery, declared last week the drug could whip tuberculosis.

He said a nationwide vaccination drive could cut the annual TB death toll from 50,00 to 5,000.

Since 1946 the U. S. Public Health Service has been testing the effectiveness of BCG in a normal U. S. community. The Columbus area was picked because the local TB death rate is about the same as that of the nation: about 32 per 100,000.

Conclusive results won't be available for another three or four years.

The project here has resulted in 61,000 X-rays and 10,000 vaccinations with BCG. On the basis of this work, the reports show that fewer cases are being turned up than in pre-vaccination year, although exact figures are not yet available.

Since its discovery 27 years ago, more than 30,000,000 BCG vaccinations have been recorded without harmful effects.

House Group Asks Defense Budget Boost

Washington, April 26—(AP)—The house appropriations committee today recommended the 1951 military budget be increased by $350,000,000 asked by Secretary of Defense Johnson to tighten the nation's bulwarks against Russia.

Urging the additional funds, Johnson told congress the Russian atomic explosion had come "somewhat in advance of the date we had anticipated." He said that caused a complete revaluation of defense plans by both the United States and the North Atlantic pact nations.

The secretary and members of the joint chiefs of staff appeared before both senate and house appropriations committees to review events leading to the plea for more money.

The secretary said the present record peacetime defense costs probably will grow larger after the next year.

Besides the $350,000,000 in new money, the Defense Department also asked the house group to restore $203,000,000 previously trimmed by the committee from the amount asked by President Truman in his budget.

The additional money already approved brings to $14,261,127,300 the amount now in the defense budget which the house will begin debating next week.

The money will probably be added to a $29,000,000,000 one-package appropriation bill before the house.

Of the new funds, $200,000,000 would be for the Air Force, and $150,000,000 for the Navy. All but $50,000,000 is for new plane purchases to continue beyond next year the program to build and maintain a 48-group Air Force.

All the Air Force money is in contract authority.

Of the Navy's $150,000,000 total, $100,000,000 is in contract authority for plane procurement and $50,000,000 is in cash for conversion of warships and for anti-submarine warfare program.

In the case of contract authority the actual money will be appropriated later.

House Committee Votes Movie Tax Cut of 50 Percent

Washington, April 26—(AP)—The house ways and means committe voted today to cut in half—from 20 per cent to 10—the federal excise tax on tickets to movies and sport events.

The committee took the action in approving another $210,000,000 slash in the excise tax list. This brought the total of tentatively approved cuts to $575,000,000.

This is far in excess of the $190,000,000 reduction President Truman had proposed for that part of the list which the committee has considered. Truman has threatened a veto of tax-cutting legislation if his recommendations are ignored.

Grinning Skull Real Silver City Mystery

A grinning skull greeted parking-ticket-callers today at Sterling police station.

No one seems to know the identity of the skull's former owner. Joe Olivares, Box Car 39, Silver City, Sterling, dug up the headbone, along with associated dry bones, Tuesday afternoon while working in his garden. Officers Robert Cate and John Haenni escorted the skeleton parts back to the station.

'Mr. Big' Says Gambling Has No Syndicate

Washington, April 26—(AP)—Betting Commissioner James J. Carroli of St. Louis—the "Mr. Big" of the odds-making business—told senators today he knows of no organized nationwide gambling syndicate.

He testified under oath before a senate commerce subcommittee that so-called "betting commissioners" and bookmakers operate as independent businessmen with no feeling of any "moral wrong," and he insisted there is no connection between big-time gamblers and crime.

"I can state without any mental reservation," he said, "that I know of no such (gambling) syndicate, combination or organization.

"To the contrary it is my belief that all of the accepting and laying off of bets is conducted on a purely competitive basis and there is no relationship between operators, commissioners or by whatever name such businessmen are called."

Carroll was a witness at the committee's hearing on a bill to ban the movement of gambling information across state lines.

Senate Probers Summon Earl Browder; Want His Testimony on Lattimore

Washington, April 26—(AP)—Earl Browder, one-time American Communist party chief, today was subpoenaed to tell senate investigators what he knows about Owen Lattimore. Browder will testify at a public hearing tomorrow.

Trailing for the truth in conflicting stories about Lattimore and the Communist party, the investigators shifted to Browder afer another witness, mysteriously missing for 20 hours, turned up safe but apparently too nervous to be questioned at this time.

That witness was John J. Huber, described as a one time FBI informer. He was supposed to testify last night but could not be located although he had come to Washington from New York earlier in the day. He showed up in New York today and said he had "blacked out" in Washington and did not know how he got back to New York.

The senators want to ask Browder under oath about testimony they got from Louis F. Budenz, a former Communist, that Browder once told Budenz that Lattimore was a member of a "Communist cell." Browder already has told reporters that Budenz's statement is not true.

Huber telephoned his wife at Mt Vernon, N. Y., at 7:30 a.m. that he had "blacked out" in Washington.

Although there had been hints that he might have met with foul play, Mrs. Huber said he seemed to be well. Se added that he had sounded nervous, tired and upset in telling her:

"I had a blackout . . . I am in New York. . . . I'll be home this evening . . . I can't talk now."

This left up in the air the question whether he might return here today to testify before the senators.

Huber came here yesterday morning by air, with another witness, a former FBI agent. Both went to a hotel. Huber left at noon, saying he was going to get a haircut.

Hours later, he failed to respond when his name was called at an evening session of the senate hearing. A search yielded no clues to his whereabouts.

Magic Spike Sellers Given Prison Terms

Chicago, April 26—(AP)—Two men convicted of selling cure-all "magic spikes" were sentenced to maximum penalties of one year in prison and fined $1,000 each today by Federal Judge Walter J. Labuy.

Sentenced were Robert T. Nelson, Jr., president, and George C. Erickson, vice president of the Vrilium Products Co., Chicago, makers of the health device.

The company was fined $1,000. The defendants were convicted April 5 by a jury which found they had violated the food and drug law by selling the spikes which the government charged were misbranded because they had no curative powers.

Dale Smith Suffers Cut on Head in Fall

Dale Smith, 67, of 112 E. Morgan street, fell in front of Walgreen's Drug store on Galena avenue about 9:30 this morning and suffered a cut on the back of his head.

He was taken to KSB hospital where his condition called "good."

Daylight Time Effective Here Sunday, April 30

Dixon will join the daylight saving parade come Sunday April 30, according to Mayor J. Fred Hofmann—because a 1946 ordinance makes the enlistment compulsory.

At Tuesday night's council meeting, the mayor, answering complaints about the time shift, said the council was bound by the actions of its predecessors.

(Editor's Note: What hizzoner didn't say, however, was that the City Council could revoke the ordinance if it so desired.)

Dixon Housing Project Gets U. S. Approval

Dixon's drive for low-rent public housing—embodied in a two-year program calling for 250 units—brought the following response today from Senator Scott W. Lucas:

"Glad to advise that public housing administrator has just approved 80 units of low rent housing for Lee county housing authority for development in city of Dixon under a one year program. Authority's loan (preliminary) request of $32,000 has to be approved by the President before it can be granted."

"Scott W. Lucas."

The preliminary loan will be used for a survey to determine sites and the number of rooms needed for each unit. The balance will be used on the project itself.

Under the 1948 housing act, the national program is designed to give federal funds to local housing authorities, which have complete jurisdiction over the project once government specifications are met.

Loans to local levels will be repaid through rents from the projects involved.

Labor Picture Better; Phone Talks Resumed

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The nation's labor picture appeared brighter today as government mediators attempted settlement of two threatened major strikes, both originally scheduled to have started this morning.

The strikes would have disrupted most of the nation's telephone service and seriously curtailed railroad transportation in all sections of the country.

Avert Walkout

A country-wide walkout of some 206,000 telephone workers was called off yesterday by Joseph A. Beirne, president of the CIO Communications Workers. It was the third time in recent months the strike had been averted.

Beirne said it was called off because "recent developments indicate the possibility of agreement in the present Bell System dispute."

The second major strike which was to have started this morning—a work stoppage by some 18,000 railroad firemen against four major carriers—on Monday had been postponed for two weeks.

The strike has been re-set for May 10 by the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen. However, the National (Railway) Mediation Board meets in Chicago tomorrow to attempt to negotiate an agreement to avert the walkout. The strike threat stems from the union's demand for an extra fireman on multiple unit diesel locomotives.

Wages and other benefits are involved in the dispute in the

Draper, Male Dancer Sought Real Democracy, Says Uncle

Hartford, Conn., April 26—(AP)—The gray-haired president of the now inactive Russian War Relief, Inc., testified today that Paul Draper, the dancer, had "a yearning for something that was genuinely democratic."

Edward C. Carter, 71, made the statement at a federal court trial of a libel suit brought by Draper and harmonica player Larry Adler. The entertainers seek $100,000 damages each from Mrs. Hester R. McCullough, 31-year-old Greenwich, Conn., housewife.

They charged she hurt their reputations by branding them pro-Communist.

Carter told the jury of eight women and four men that he was an uncle by marriage of Draper.

He said he was impressed by the fact Draper had "a yearning for something that was genuinely democratic that was profoundly far-seeing and constructive."

Draper, he said, seemed to have "an extremely deep conviction that the development of Fascism anywhere and the Nazi type of mentality tended to destroy every human value."

Frederick H. Wiggin of New Haven, attorney for Draper and Adler, told the jury yesterday that each had lost at least $10,000 in bookings of Mrs. McCullough's published and spoken statements protesting their appearance at a concert in Greenwich on Jan. 21, 1949.

As a result, he said, bookings had been cancelled for Draper and Adler in Chicago, New York and Houston, and in the case of the dancer on a television show.

Six Dixon Youths Ransacked Cottage

Six Dixon boys between the ages of 12 and 16 were involved in the wholesale ransacking of a cottage on S. Lincoln avenue, according to Chief Deputy Sheriff Charles Redebaugh.

Redebaugh said the destruction was discovered when the owner, Charles Howe, Shore Acres, Rock Falls, returned Sunday. The mischief apparently took place last week.

Redebaugh said the boys, all of school age, admitted breaking into the cottage and destroying the furniture and fixtures. The chief deputy also said three of the boys admitted being involved in the theft of the petty cash three weeks ago from Levan school, four miles south of Dixon.

As yet, no charges have been preferred.

Rock River Reaches Spring Flood Stage

Rock river at Dixon was rapidly approaching a late spring flood stage today and had risen more than three feet since Monday. A 3 of a foot was recorded at the I. N. U. hydro plant since midnight and a report indicated that the crest had not been reached and the stage was still rising.

The small lagoon west of the high shool was out of its banks this morning and was continuing to rise while the water from the river was backing up to the roadway.

Find Maragon Guilty; Jurors Say He Fibbed

Washington, April 26—(AP)—John Maragon, who used to have friends at the White House, was convicted today of lying to state investigators.

On each of the two counts on which he was found guilty, Maragon could be sent to jail for as little as eight months to two years or for as long as 40 months to 10 years.

The courts rarely impose the maximum sentence.

Maragon, dressed in a dark blue suit, heard the verdict with little show of emotion.

A federal district court jury took one hour and 36 minutes to convict him of charges that he lied in testifying last July that:

1. He had only one bank account in Washington, in 1945-46. The evidence showed he had another then in Texas.

2. He had severed connections with Albert Verley and Co., a Chicago Importing Co., when he took a temporary job with the State Department overseas in 1945.

But Maragon was cleared on one of the main counts the government brought against him—that he perjured himself in saying he negotiated no business with the government and received no money for negotiations from 1945 to until the middle of last year.

Dr. David Murphy Praises Hospital

With Mayor J. Fred Hofmann doing the welcoming and Dr. David Murphy the guest speaking, Dixon State hospital played host to 600 visitors Sunday at "open house."

All guests toured hospital buildings and grounds, after Dr. Murphy said the diagnostic methods of the institution were comparable to those of the state's leader—Illinois Research hospital.

Three employees, Mrs. Mae Todden, Mrs. Ruth Cory and Mrs. Lillian Higgins, were presented with cash awards for "outstanding service." Seven others also were cited for outstanding work.

Friendship Lodge Banquet Thursday

Members of Friendship lodge No. 7, A. F. & A. M. will hold a banquet and reception at the Masonic Temple Thursday evening, honoring Benjamin E. Patton, Most Worshipful Grand Master of Masons of Illinois.

The banquet will be served at 6:30 followed by a reception at 8 o'clock.

Annual $100 Police, Fire Clothing Pay

Other Departments Get on Gravy Train

All city employees received a $10 monthly raise at Tuesday night's council meeting, with policemen and firemen drawing an additional $100 annual clothing allowance.

An ordinance passed by city commissioners provided that the city attorney receive $2,020 annually; the city clerk, $3,200; deputy clerk, $2,230, the treasurer, $1,020, chief of police, $3,240; assistant chief of police, $3,000; desk sergeant, $2,820; fire chiefs, $3,120; assistant fire chief, $2,820; and captain, $2,760.

Starting pay for both policemen and firemen will be $190, and then $200 after six months, with the top being $225 a month, or $2,700 a year.

The council also raised the salaries of the superintendent of Oakwood cemetery and the superintendent of the sewage disposal plant $10 a month.

Other Business

In its other activities, the council—

—adopted a resolution showing the acceptance by St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran church of $50,000 for its building and parsonage at Second street and Hennepin avenue. A double-decked parking lot will replace the 1868 landmark to relieve downtown parking congestion. The money will come solely from the parking meter fund.

—award a contract to the R. Dron Electrical company, Granite City, for the construction of a traffic light at Second street and Galena avenue, and for alterations on lights at First street and Galena and First and Peoria to make them conform to state law. The bid, open for inspection the last week, was $7,905.

—named Ross Crawford, E. M. Greene and Floyd Smith Jr to a commission to hear two petitions asking for rezoning from residential to commercial areas. They were submitted by Mr. and Mrs. Harold Edous, 1911 First street, and James E. Carry, 1307 W. Fourth street. Fifteen days notice will be given before the commission conducts a public hearing in city hall.

—refused to take action on a petition to vacate Ogle Tree place from Johnson street north to the city limits. Commissioners Forrest Shawger and Joseph Vaile opposed the move because, they said, (1) the city could grow in that direction, and (2) the city had no legal right to vacate the property. Filed by Leonard Spellmeyer, 1011 Johnson street, and M. M. Rosenberger, 1135 Johnson, the petitioners said the city did not maintain the property. Commissioner Vaile promised weeds would be cut in the future.

Convict Two White Men in Colored Rape

Rome, Ga., April 26—(AP)—Two white men were convicted and sentenced to three to five years in prison last night for attempting to rape a 13-year-old Negro girl.

A third white youth was expected to go on trial today on charges of rape in connection with the same case.

An all-white male jury, composed mostly of farmers, deliberated almost two hours before returning a verdict of "guilty of assault with intent to rape." The jury fixed the penalty.

Convicted last night were James Marion Elder, 26, of Rockmart, and Jerald David Hicks, 24, of Dallas. Still to be tried is 20-year-old Louie Eugene Byars of Rome.

The Negro child testified she went to a spring in North Rome for a pail of water on April 3. She gave this account of subsequent events.

When she arrived she encountered the three men, two white girls, Geneva Davis and Eula Byars, a sister of Louie, and two small white children. The men forced her to drink wine and Elder and Hicks then dragged her to the top of a nearby hill, stripped off her clothes and hurled her to the ground. Then two men would hold her while the third raped her.

Distant Star

BY HERMINA BLACK

Copyright 1950 by Hermina Black. Dist. by NEA SERVICE, INC.

THE STORY: Falling in love had been far from Clemency Norton's intentions when she became nursery governess to Baba, small daughter of Jon and Syrie Amberley who live in Algeria with Jon's brother Piers. In spite of Syrie's warning that Piers was a "born bachelor," Clemency finds herself in love with him. Further complicating matters is the fact that Clemency learns that Jon is weak, obviously dependent on Piers' generosity and given to drinking. Clemency tries to avoid further entanglement by avoiding Piers, but while taking Baba for a walk Piers appears and gives Baba a ride on his horse.

CLEMENCY NORTON watched Piers Amberley ride off with Baba. An unpredictable person! Who would have thought of him riding off so serenely with a four-year-old? And he was supposed not to like children. But Clemency wished he had not left her feeling quite so confused and young. She had the sudden conviction that if the mood had taken him he would have thought no more of lifting her up and taking her for a ride on the Caid than he had done of taking Baba. Perhaps it was just as well he did not seem to think of her as quite grown up.

She told Louilie to wait downstairs and bring Baba up when her uncle returned with her.

While she was out, Abdul the gardener had sent up the flowers with which he supplied the nurseries every day. Clemency liked to arrange them herself. She adored flowers, and was one of those happy people who only had to put them in a vase to have them fall as she wanted them to.

The basket full of roses and sweet peas which was today's quota stood on the long table where Baba had her lessons and on which Clemency always arranged the flowers.

She was filling a vase with scarlet and crimson blossoms when a sound behind her made her turn quickly to see Piers standing in the open doorway, watching her.

JUST for a moment Clemency and Piers looked at each other across the room, and she was conscious of a new troubling intentness in his eyes.

Then Baba's delighted laugh broke the silence and she came hurtling over to clasp Clemency round the knees.

"We frightened you, Clemency. We tip-toed ever so softly. I was going to say Boo!"

"I nearly jumped right out of my skin," Clemency told her. "What a trick."

"I told Uncle Piers he wasn't to make one tiny little noise so's we could surprise you." Baba's "r's" always went to bits when she was excited.

"I am surprised — at Uncle Piers," said Clemency with a calmness she was far from feeling. This was the first time he had been in the nursery since she had reigned there.

Piers laughed. "Not my idea. The woman tempted me."

"That's a very old story," said Clemency. "Did you have a nice ride, Baba?"

"Lovely. Can I go again tomorrow?" Baba ran back to her uncle.

"Tomorrow never comes," he told her.

"Why not?"

"Because it's always today."

"And anyway," announced Clemency firmly, "you've had a lovely ride and you are now going to have a lovely rest."

"No—" As always when she was over-excited Baba showed signs of mutiny.

"You are going to do just exactly what you are told or there will never be any more rides," her uncle announced quietly.

At that moment Louilie appeared, rather flustered. "I did not know the Sidi had returned," she said. "I was waiting—"

As a matter of fact she had been having a small flirtation with Mustapha, Abdul's son, who was a student in Algiers and spending his holiday with his father, and had missed the return of the master of the house.

Guessing something of the sort, Clemency was annoyed—Louilie had been told distinctly to wait and bring Baba up.

"Take Miss Baba to lie down," Clemency told her. "Say thank you to Uncle Piers, darling—"

"Thank you. And please take me again tomorrow when it's today." Baba put her arms around Piers' neck as he bent to kiss her. Clemency thought, "Why, he's very fond of her."

"I won't promise—but we'll see. Or perhaps we'll go for a ride in the car," he said.

And now surely he would go!

But he lingered, looking at the roses. "You are fond of flowers, Miss Norton?"

"I love them," she answered.

"So do I. One of the charms of this country is that one can have a garden for so many months. And—so many of the flowers from the old country."

"Yes. I've noticed that. It's lovely."

PLATITUDES! She wished almost violently he would go and wanted him almost as violently to stay.

Then turning towards the door he looked back. "By the way, would you care to come downstairs and have dinner this evening?"

Her heart felt as though it had done a somersault.

"I—" she stammered. "I'm so sorry, but it's impossible this evening. I—" But he did not wait for the explanation which she was vainly trying to find to excuse her impulsive refusal.

"I see," he said. "Another time perhaps." And went out, closing the door behind him.

Angry with herself, appalled at her panicky turning-down of his suggestion, she stood looking unhappily after him. Had she been unpardonably rude? Was he offended?

And yet she had felt that she could not stand the strain of dining alone with him. She was much too afraid of giving herself away.

I am absurd! she thought angrily. There really was no excuse for bad manners.

For a delicious ice cream sauce, mix a half cup each of butter or margarine and sugar, add a cup of cream and heat to boiling. Mix in some finely chopped preserved fruits and serve.

In storing food in the refrigerator most of it should be kept in covered containers. Meat is an exception; it should be only lightly covered with waxed paper or a similar covering.

Don't cool aluminum and stainless metal cooking utensils too fast. Wait a few minutes after using them before soaking the pan. Quick changes in temperatures may warp them.

The Inside Story and Origin Of Hit 'Bibbidi Bobbidi Boo'

By SAUL PETT

New York—(AP)—Not everybody could write "Salaga doola menchika boola bibbidi boobidi boo."

It takes an intuitive sense, a feel, a touch, or something. You got it or you haven't got it.

This is the secret of such creation, say Mack David and Jerry Livingston, two rational young men who wrote the current song hit, "Bibbidi Bobbidi Boo" (copyright Walt Disney Music Corp.)

If you're wondering what "salaga doola," etc., means, don't. It means nothing except about $50,000 to David and Livingston who wrote the music for the movie, "Cinderella." These boys are experts. They have a case history of irritational hits, having turned out "Mairzy Doats" and "Chi Baba Chi Baba."

Explain How

Over a cup of coffee the composers tried to explain how "Bibbidi Bobbidi Boo" came about.

David, being the man who writes the words, did most of the talking. He explained the specific problem that led to the song.

"We needed words to suggest the mumbo-jumbo of magic," said Livingston, "but not the usual abracadabra stuff. We needed nonsense words with a good rhythm."

So putting on their loafers and their sports jackets they went to work. While David was walking up and down, occasionally surrendering to chairs which stretched out to beds, Livingston sat at the piano smoking what he calls his "dreaming cigars." He smoked and noodled, while he casually stroked the piano keys, hitting an experimental chord now and then.

Many Combinations

"We tried many, many different combinations of sounds of meaningless words," said David. "We rolled them on our tongue and ran them through our ears. We must have discarded 30 or 40 combinations, and it's funny, isn't it, I can't remember one of them now. Maybe it's because I don't want to."

After two weeks of intensive effort in the studio, in restaurants and in their homes, David finally came up with the first two lines. From then on the lyrics and the melody just rolled out. It took only one more day to finish the job.

"Lots of guys try nonsense songs," concluded Livingston, "but they miss because they just fluff off the melody.

"And the sounds have to be just right," said David.

"Of course the sounds have to fit," said Livingston.

"And of course you don't get anywhere without the right melody," said David.

The 'Police State'

One of the most interesting recent books on Russia is called "The Police State What You Want to Know About the Soviet Union." Written by Craig Thompson, a former Moscow correspondent of Time and Life, and published by E P. Dutton, it gives small comfort to those who believe that some kind of fair and workable agreement can now be achieved between Russia and this country. Mr. Thompson is absolutely convinced that the Kremlin is hell-bent on the political and economic enslavement of the world and that it is not interested in half a loaf. Of the Russian leaders he says "To them, compromise is only a stragem, a device to fool the enemy and gain a more advantageous position." In other words, the part of wisdom is to view every Soviet act and policy—no matter how harmless or even conciliatory it may seem to be—with the utmost suspicion.

Here Mr. Thompson is in obvious agreement with the views of Secretary of State Dean Acheson. Mr Acheson's recent speeches have all reflected a deep pessimism, and a firm and reasoned feeling that further negotiations with the Kremlin bosses—even if they took place on the top level between Stalin and Truman—could not possibly do any good, and that, even, they might do great harm by producing a sense of complacency and false security among the people. Whether this feeling is right or wrong, the present foreign policy of the U. S. government is based upon it.

If we are to accept this reasoning, and if we are to win the cold war, we must have a strong and stable policy and the strength to back it up. The most reasoned criticism of President Truman's past and present foreign policy is that it has often consisted of big words which we could not possibly justify with deeds To make matters worse, in the view of many, the policy has on occasion been changed and modified for strictly political purposes.

Here is why the demand for a return to a genuinely bipartisan foreign policy has again reached a climactic point That kind of policy died with the illness of Senator Vandenburg which prevented him from carrying on the enormously important work he had been doing Mr. Truman's appointment of John Foster Dulles as a special advisor to Mr Acheson marks, it is almost universally hoped, a return to bipartisanship.

Another shot in this direction was fired in a major speech by Thomas E. Dewey, in which he strongly and clearly showed the direct relationship between an effective bipartisan foreign policy and national liberty and security Mr Dewey berated both Republicans and Democrats who put politics above the public welfare Perhaps the best sign of the times is that more and more men in high places recognize that the terrible seriousness of the situation demands resolute and unselfish action.

The Country Press Says . . .

America, Alabama, Dixie-American "Just as the night follows the day, so government aid to the individual is followed by government control of the individual."

Walden New York, Citizen-Herald: "The average hidden tax bill of 45 billion taxpayers receiving $5,000 or less per year, is over $500

"Besides these hidden taxes, of course, we have the visible ones that we see as we pay Is it any wonder that your dollar doesn't do as much for you any more?"

Pomeroy, Ohio, Sentinel: "The suggestion that a national police force be created to work on criminal cases now under the jurisdiction of state and local police is blasted by J Edgar Hoover director of the FBI

"Whenever the government of the United States operates a police force, under orders from a central agency in Washington the machinery would be available for any would-be dictator to stifle the liberties of the people of the country For that reason, we certainly oppose anything like a national police force."

Denville, New Jersey, Herald: "'High prices to farmers—low prices to consumers' may sound wonderful. But who's going to make up the difference? You will, not once but many times over, because you'll have to pay not only the difference in the cost of the food, but for a gigantic government organization to run the system. Aren't you carrying enough government employes on your back now?"

De Leon, Texas Free Press "An awakening to the importance of local government will result in more busy citizens rendering service as members of city, county and local school governing bodies—just for the sake of doing their part toward bulwarking democracy at its foundation."

Four Liquor Store Bandits Shoot, Kill Policeman

Chicago, April 26 — (AP) — A policeman was shot and killed last night when he walked in on four Negroes holding up a South Side liquor store

The officer was William B Murphy, 62. He was shot eight times in the head, chest and abdomen His right arm was broken and his chin, collar bone and left elbow were bruised in a kicking he received from the robbers after slumping to the floor.

A Negro who later sought treatment for a bullet wound was quoted by Police Lt Patrick J. Condon as saying he was one of the four robbers He gave his name as Emil Washington 25, and told Condon his gun fired accidentally while he was struggling with Murphy Washington wounded in the chest was described as in serious condition

Murphy had just been relieved of duty for the night when he saw the Negroes robbing the store and began scuffling with one of them He fired only one shot before he was caught in a hail of bullets and the Negroes fled

How Would U. S. Feel About Paying Other British Debts

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, April 26—(AP)—How would the United States feel about paying off some of the money Britain owes other countries?

The British raised this question in a very quiet note to the U. S State Department News of it got around Washington

Reaction 'Sour'

In congress where lawmakers can make or break the idea since they hold the purse strings, the reaction was very sharp and very sour

This reaction wasn't unexpected Congress already since the war, has voted over $6,220,000,000 for Britain Many a lawmaker thinks that ought to be about enough

(Of that sum more than $4,000,000,000 is in loans which the British are obligated to pay back plus $2,225,000,000 in gifts that don't have to be repaid.)

So at this moment it may seem unlikely that congress will help bail out the British on her debt to other countries

Allies in Cold War

Still the U S and Britain are allies in the cold war against Communism and are particularly anxious to work together in Asia.

There Communism through its victory in China, has made gigantic gains and may gobble up all Asia unless it can be stopped

Communist targets in Asia include Burma, Indo-China, Thailand, India and Pakistan. The last two are part of the British commonwealth

How can those countries be kept out of Communism's reach? That's the problem for the U S and Britain

They may need military help against attack And they'll need economic help to win the people away from the promises of Communism.

Help from Here

Most of the economic help, of course, will have to come from this country So the idea behind the British note was this

If we help Asia with money, we may be able to help Britain at the same time since Britain owes some of those countries money

This will explain a little of the thinking behind the idea

There is a group of nations called the sterling area, or sterling bloc

It's made up of Britain and these countries Australia New Zealand, South Africa, India, Pakistan (all in the British commonwealth) and Burma, Iceland, Iraq, and Ireland.

In this country the lawful money is the dollar. In Britain the lawful money is the pound sterling.

We Pay in Dollars

Which simply means that when Americans do business they pay, and want to be paid in, dollars And when Britons and the other members of the sterling area do business with one another they deal in sterling.

That's how the sterling bloc countries did business before the war When they shipped goods to one another they got paid in sterling with which they could buy goods from one another. Then the war came.

Britain needed plenty of goods and food from the sterling bloc countries They sent her those things But, being up to her neck in the war she wasn't making things she could sell them in turn

So, since she couldn't sell them anything with which to get paid in money—she could have used that to pay them for what they sent her—she asked them to let her owe them for what they sent.

Debt Piled Up

As the war went on, Britain's debt to them piled up She's been paying off some of it, but she still owes them around $6,000,000,000.

She's paying off in goods she makes or in dollars (they particularly want dollars so they can buy goods here). Meanwhile, she's getting money help from us in the form of dollars

She needs those dollars so she can buy things here Yet, if she could sell here some of the goods she's sending to the sterling area, she'd earn more dollars to buy more goods here

And, if she didn't have to pay off some of her debt with dollars the American taxpayers might not have to give her so many dollars for free since Britain still needs dollars to buy goods here

So the thinking goes on to the next step

Gifts to India

Suppose we made a gift of dollars to India and Pakistan—as part of our plan for Asia—and, for every dollar we gave them, we asked them to cancel off an equal amount of the money Britain owes them

That would still give them dollars to buy here And, since Britain could then send them less goods, she could try to sell those goods here to get more dollars to buy more goods here And, the more dollars she earned here herself, the fewer dollars America would have to give her

Of course, this wouldn't be an unmixed blessing for India and Pakistan. If they got dollars from us and cancelled off an equal amount of what Britain owed, they'd be pretty much where they were instead of getting money and goods from Britain, plus fresh help from us to help them keep off Communism.

Put Yourself in Partner's Place

By OSWALD JACOBY

Written for NEA Service

We are told that one of the hardest things in the world is to see yourself through somebody else's eyes. This is true at the bridge table also. It is very hard to play a hand as though you were Bill Jones instead of yourself

South knew that his partner's bid of four diamonds showed the ace of that suit He was also pretty sure that his partner would not have bothered to show an ace if his original raise of two hearts had been a "stretch." So South counted on his partner to show up with the king of hearts and the ace of diamonds Little else was necessary to give him a good play for a grand slam

West opened the king of spades, and South ruffed. Declarer looked over the dummy carefully and saw that if each opponent had two trumps, the hand would be easy. He could draw trumps, leaving one trump still in dummy. Then he could take the clubs, discarding two diamonds from dummy. Eventually dummy's last trump could be used to trump South's third diamond.

After some thought he saw that he could make the contract against a 3-1 trump break if he simply imagined that his partner were playing the hand. In other words, he would not try to trump his own losing diamond in dummy. Instead he would try to ruff all of dummy's losing spades in his own hand.

At the second trick, therefore, South led a low trump to dummy's eight. He returned a spade from dummy and ruffed with the jack. He next led another low trump to dummy's ten noting that a trump was still out against him

Declarer continued by leading dummy's third spade and ruffing with the queen of hearts. South got to dummy again with a low club to the jack and ruffed out dummy's last spade with the ace of hearts

Now South could lead a diamond to dummy's ace and draw West's last trump with dummy's king. By this time South was out of trumps himself, so he could discard his losing diamond on dummy's last trump!

After this remarkable trick, South took the rest with his king of diamonds and top clubs He had made the grand slam by what experts call a "dummy reversal" —or by imagining that his partner was playing the hard

Should Parents Let Girl Seek City Career Alone

She is graduating from college in June and she wants to tackle a big city as a career girl, but her parents think she ought to come back to her own home town to look for a job

Writes her mother "Our daughter will be graduated from our state university in June She is career-minded at this point and wants us to let her go to New York or Chicago to look for a job Her father and I both feel she is too young to go off to a city to earn a living and have tried, without much success so far, to sell her on the idea of coming home to live and finding a job in her own home town Don't you think we're right?"

From your point of view, there is a lot to be said for the career-at-home plan You won't worry about her if she is living at home You'll have the pleasure of having her around a while longer And maybe you can even pull a few strings to help her get a job

Home Town Job Holds No Appeal

But from her point of view the plan obviously is just a compromise She apparently was to get out on her own, and to make her way without help She may have no desire whatsoever to come back to her home town where she has an established place in life. She probably has big city fever, too, thinking a career in a big city leads an especially glamorous life.

Why don't you let her try it her way without opposition? After all, a girl who had had four years at a state university ought to be able to look after herself in a city In four years of campus living a girl faces and works out the answers to most of the major problems that confront a girl on her own You can be pretty sure that she has already decided for herself just what her own moral code is

So show her that you believe in her Back her up in her ambitions But let her know that she can always change her mind and come home without having to hear "I told you so," or feel that she has failed

TURN FROM YOURSELF TO CHRIST

We now come to the third simple step (3) Since you have brought to the surface all conflicts, all guilts, now turn your attention and your loyalty from yourself to Christ. The bringing up of all these conflicts and fears and guilt will leave a vacuum which only Christ can fill When He comes in and takes possession, then, as you turn your attention within, you are not turning your attention to yourself, but to the Christ who is within you Now you can be an introvert, for at that very moment you are an extrovert.

A very intelligent woman of excellent character and ability loved her father devotedly When he died she had no one she really loved, so her frustrated love turned upon herself This upset her nerves and ended in further frustration That frustrated love could be released and satisfied only as it centered on Christ the Eternal and the Unfolding Our love fastened supremely on Christ will give all lesser legitimate loves their meaning and their place They are hallowed by that supreme love. You dare love yourself if you love Christ supremely

Dr. Paul Scherer told me of a brilliant woman the brains of a dope ring, who listened in over the radio to find arguments against God, for she didn't merely disbelieve in God—she hated Him At that time she was taking three times the legal dose in order to sleep Something in the words she heard broke her antagonism She was converted. And then the fight of disentanglement began Again and again she would faint for want of the drug but she refused to take it She went among her gang and told what had happened to her Her testimony broke up the ring Five of them were killed in action after they went to England to help the wounded in order "to make atonement for what they had done to destroy others She herself is now a radiant Christian, in social-service work in a great city. A new loyalty and love broke the power of the old Love Christ, and then do what you like, for you will like the right. You will be free!

O my Lord and Master, I see that I can be free only when I am in love with Thee, for love of Thee is love of myself. What bondage—what freedom! I know now what the promise means when it says, "If the Son shall make you free, ye shall be free indeed." I am free indeed. I thank Thee, Father. Amen.

Commissioner Transfers Odor To East Enders

has jurisdiction over the garbage, said:

"We hope we can show you a sanitary method of garbage disposal."

Vaile said that in the near future, all garbage would be wrapped, immediately buried and covered with dirt and cinders.

"There'll be no seepage, no rats, no flies, no smell," Vaile told the objectors. He added that the city had just finished filling in 16 acres in West End and that it hadn't had time to transfer land-fill equipment to the East End. He added that an end-loader had been transferred to the site Tuesday afternoon.

"We tried every way in the world to keep from having land-fill," the commissioner said, referring to the twin defeats of the incinerator ordinance in 1949.

Makes Promises, Too

Vaile pledged that any detrimental conditions called to his attention would be rectified. He said Township Supervisor A. C. Higby promised cooperation to keep the dump sanitary.

Tuesday morning, Sanitary Engineer Richard G. Thomas told The Telegraph the city's plans would provide for sanitary dumping if they're followed through.

Thomas said that if the garbage is covered daily and the ditch is tiled and designed to carry off surface water, there'd be nothing objectionable about the site.

M. M. Rosenberger, 1135 Johnson street, who was sitting in on the council meeting because of his petition to the city to vacate Ogle Tree place, offered the city a lease on 27 acres at the site of the old Plum Hollow dumping ground.

Rosenberger said he'd charge $45 a month and named a purchase price of $7,500.

The mayor answered that before anything could be done, the court would have to lift an injunction restraining the city from using the 27-acre spot as a dump. No formal action was taken.

The old dumping ground is a half-mile from the nearest home.

(The city began dumping on the Frank Hughes property Saturday. The site was abandoned while the city lived up to the terms of a lease requiring it to fill the West End dump. The Hughes lease was signed about a year ago).

Daylight Time For 500 State Cities, Report

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Daylight time will become effective again this year in about 500 of the 1,200 Illinois communities, including most of the larger cities.

An Associated Press survey indicates there will be little change from last year's 515 "fast time" communities when clocks are shifted ahead one hour at 2 a.m. next Sunday.

Springfield Fed Up

Residents of Springfield and Galesburg, however, have had enough of the semi-annual clock-shifting business and voted recently to sit tight with the older and more stable solar arrangement.

At Springfield, a vote on the question showed 15,000 against daylight time to 14,156 for it. Galesburgh had 5,570 standard time supporters to 3,447 for daylight.

Among other large cities remaining on standard time will be Jacksonville, Macomb, Kewanee, Carmi, Monmouth, Canton, Rock Island, Moline, Decatur, Mattoon, Centralia and Freeport.

But with other large cities shifting to daylight time, more than half the state's population will be affected. These cities include Chicago and its suburbs, Rockford, Peoria, Waukegan, Alton, Belleville, Aurora, Streator, Sterling, Dixon, East St. Louis, Ottawa, La Salle, Kankakee, Pekin, Elgin, Danville, Champaign, Bloomington, Quincy, Urbana, Joliet and Evanston.

Farmers Opposed

Most opposition to daylight time has been in cities where railroads have divisions, terminals and shops, and in farming communities. In the latter group, farmers have quipped that daylight time was a flop because their livestock, particularly dairy cows, didn't understand the change and made no adjustment for it in milking time.

Merchants groups in many smaller towns also resisted daylight time because it threw business hours somewhat out of step with farmers' routine operations and shopping customs.

Most support for the change has come from sportsmen, factory workers, office employes and young people in the cities.

Some smaller cities have not yet decided the question for this year. Among these is Lincoln, in Logan county, where the city council will vote on it May 1. Daylight time has been in effect there by city ordinance, but the council is expected to repeal that measure.

Labor Picture Better; Phone Talks Resumed

threatened telephone strike. The strike started Monday by some 10,000 telephone equipment workers against the Bell System's manufacturing arm, Western Electric Company, continued. But Ernest Weaver, president of the CWA Equipment Workers union, said strikers did not plan to picket exchanges in nearly every state.

N. Y. Settlement

In New York City, federal mediators said a settlement had been reached in a dispute between the Independent National Association of Broadcast Engineers and Technicians and two national networks.

The union's settlement with the National Broadcasting Company and the American Broadcasting Company came after 32 hours of almost continuous negotiations. Settlement terms were satisfactory to both sides, but were not disclosed.

In Detroit, the executive board of the CIO United Auto Workers voted to ask local unions to continue emergency assessments beyond May 3 to carry on the union's strike against Chrysler. The last of 12 $1 a week compulsory assessments is due May 3 and will have brought about $7,000,000 into the union treasury.

Federal and state mediators said a deadlock over non-economic matters still stood in the way of settlement of the 93-day-old strike.

The first big test of strength in the six month fight between two unions for control of the nation's electrical workers is set for tomorrow. The National Labor Relations Board is to poll the 55,000 employes of the Westinghouse Electric Corporation at 40 plants in 32 cities.

The ricksha used in the Orient today was invented by U. S. Marine Jonothan Goble, who visited Japan in 1854 with Commodore Perry.

Russia Presses Campaign to Put Dollar Out of Business

Vienna, April 26—(AP)—Russia is pressing a campaign to drive the dollar out of business dealings of her satellites, informed western sources said today. She is setting up a "ruble area," a rival of Britain's sterling bloc and the U. S. dollar zone.

The anti-dollar measures are part of a long-range program the Soviets are readying to gain absolute control over the economic policies of the eastern bloc nations.

Treaties To Go

Out the window will go present mutual aid treaties binding the eastern states together, and—gradually—unilateral trade pacts between eastern European states and the west. Moscow thinks these give the satellites too much freedom to make deals on their own.

Replacing them will be a central customs union controlled by the Kremlin, with payments funnelled through an international payments bank in Moscow.

Informed western sources say all trade will be figured in rubles. All east bloc currency will be pegged to that money. All prices will be quoted in rubles. Poland already quotes them that way. Other eastern nations are expected to follow suit soon.

Most of the present treaties and trade agreements are calculated on the basis of the dollar. Russia's plans to change this have a psychological and propaganda aim. One western economist explains Russia's objection this way:

Anti-Capitalism

"No matter how loudly Russia proclaims the inevitable collapse of capitalism, her arguments don't mean a thing while the people know their own currency and their own trade is pegged to the capitalist dollar.

"The less the people hear about dollars, the easier it will be to convince them that the dollar is worthless."

With the Moscow-dominated customs union calling the trade turn, the Soviet satellites—Poland, Czechoslovakia, Bulgaria, Romania, Albania, Hungary and east Germany—then no longer will be in competition among themselves for western markets. Prices for east bloc goods in the west probably will rise, since the central agency can charge whatever the traffic will bear.

The creation, however artificially, of a ruble area is considered by western sources as primarily a psychological step in the cold war, just as the establishment a year ago of the economic council of mutual aid (ECMA) had been largely a propaganda move.

Famed Sculptor Refuses to Return To Red Homeland

Ivan Mestrovic, world famous Yugoslav sculptor who is a voluntary "exile" in America, dropped in on me in New York yesterday and I extracted from him an interesting development in his differences with Generalissimo Tito—a further request from Tito that Mestrovic return home.

I use the word "extracted" advisedly, because the good doctor doesn't give up information about himself readily. However, that's understandable in view of his delicate position in relation to the Yugoslav chief of state.

Many Tito Messages

As reported before, Tito has sent numerous messages to Mestrovic by envoys, urging the sculptor to return home and promising him personal security. The generalissimo's ostensible interest in getting the doctor back home is that Mestrovic not only is an international figure in the art world but is regarded by his countrymen as a great patriot.

While Mestrovic's personal security has been guaranteed, he always has replied that he wouldn't return to Yugoslavia until his great friend Archbishop Alojzije Stepanic, of Zagreb, is released from prison. The prelate was sentenced in October, 1946, to 16 years in prison for "crimes against the state."

Our inferiority complex really complexed last night when we stepped on the drives and found Ned Sack and Ev Thurm arguing over which one would take the lead-off spot against us. Ned finally won out and, of course, his 564 beat us two pins . . . After the Hatchery had won two from James Billiards and had a fairly good start on the last one, the James Boys really began throwing strikes, with Ned Sack having four in a row, Andy Tilton, four straight, Lloyd Duffy, five and Ev Thurm three which gave them four 200 counts, enough to take the set by 32 pins, 1048 to 1016 . . . The trip in from the Lanes where he bowled on the first Shift, tired Jim Burke considerably. Jim had 543 for Coopers DX, but on coming to town dropped to 439 . . . Forrest Whipperman also lost six pins on the way in, having 534 at the Lanes and 528 at the Recreation . . . Joe Sweeney just missed three alike by two pins with 178, 176, 178 . . . Elwin Wadsworth will be toastmaster at the Recreation banquet tonight, which begins at 6:30, immediately following the doubles match between Paul Krumske George (Ace) Calder and John Smith Bob Hoyle, at the Recreation. This match promises to be a treat for the local keglers and a full house is expected at the alleys to watch the two stars from Chicago's Classic loop perform.

Stanky, Dark Boost Giants to First Win

Hatten Allows Boston Braves Only Two Hits

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

They snickered when the New York Giants traded away all that power to the Boston Braves for defense-minded Eddie Stanky and Alvin Dark.

They smiled knowingly when Sid Gordon returned to the Polo Grounds in a Braves' uniform and almost single-handed whipped his former mates with a pair of home runs. One came with the bases loaded.

All this happened during the first week of the season. But yesterday started a new week—with different results.

While Gordon, Marshall and Kerr were held hitless by Joe Hatten as the lefthander pitched the Brooklyn Dodgers to a 3-0 triumph over Boston, Stanky and Dark were sparking the Giants to their first triumph of the season. The pair reached base five times as the Giants defeated the Philadelphia Phillies, 8-4. The pair also excelled in the field.

Stanky proved he was still an excellent leadoff batter by drawing a pair of walks and singling in five trips to the plate. He scored twice. Stanky now has received seven free passes and scored five times in five games.

Dark walloped a home run and double in four times at bat to boost his batting average to a lofty .421. Until yesterday the keystone combination had not driven in a run nor cracked an extra base hit.

Hatten Allows Two Hits

Hatten allowed only two singles at Boston, as the Dodgers registered their fifth straight triumph following their opening day loss to the Phillies. He retired 23 men in succession between Bob Elliott's second inning single and Connie Ryan's ninth inning walk. Sam Jethroe followed Ryan's walk with a single, but Hatten got Marshall to end the inning and the game.

Vic Raschi became the first New York Yankee pitcher to go the route, pitching a 6-3 victory over the Athletics in Philadelphia. It was Raschi's 12th victory over the Mackmen. The Yankees played without Tommy Henrich, who suffered a recurrence of his knee injury in batting practice.

Tigers Win Again

Detroit's Tigers won their fifth game in six starts, defeating the Browns in a St. Louis night game. Virgil Trucks had a one-hit shutout for seven innings but homers by Hank Arft and Dick Kokos and a double knocked him out of the box. Art Houtteman stopped the Brownie uprising in the ninth to preserve Trucks' second victory.

Rain and wet grounds forced postponements of the Boston Red Sox-Washington and Cleveland-Chicago games in the American League and the Chicago-Pittsburgh game in the National. Cincinnati and St. Louis were not scheduled.

Oregon Women Hold Bowling Banquet Here

Oregon—(Special)—The Oregon Women's Bowling association held their annual banquet at the Rainbow Inn, Dixon, with 41 bowlers present.

Master of Ceremonies Jean Davis presided. Captains of the eight teams were introduced. Rogene Fearer, Thelma Paul, Mary Beck, Freda Stiles, Margaret Loan, Vi Murdock, Evelyn Burright and Mary Jane Sharick headed the 1949-50 bowling teams.

Officers elected for the coming year were Mary Beck, president; Elizabeth Ulferts, vice-president; Mary Jane Sharick, secretary; Elizabeth Ehmen, treasurer; Dorothy Winters, sargeant at arms; and Betty Kaufman, president of the City league.

Bemis Motor Company received the league trophy with a record of 60 wins and 30 losses. City championship trophies went to Evelyn Burright and Elizabeth Ulferts.

WIBC medals were awarded to Evelyn Burright, all-events; Oregon Motor Sales, team; Evelyn Burright and Elizabeth Ulferts, doubles, and Mary Beck, singles.

High individual series honors went to Noima Jenkins with a 576 total. Evelyn Burright and Betty Green tied for the single game top with 246 each.

Evelyn Burright won high average first place with 165. Jenkin's Cleaners won the high team game first place with 836. They also won the high team series on a total of 2391.

Sportsmen Will Meet Next Week, Not Tonight

The regular meeting of the Dixon Sportsmen's club has been postponed until later next week.

Originally set for tonight, the change in date was made by President Mickey McMahon due to the bowling banquet which is being held at the Elks club tonight.

Grand Rapid's Team Has Top Score in WIBC

St. Paul, April 26—(AP)—A new team, the Fanatorium Majors of Grand Rapids, Mich., perched at the top of the team standings in the Women's International Bowling Congress tournament today.

The Majors rolled 2903—second 2900 score in the 33-year history of the Congress—to displace the Strauss-Frank team from San Antonio, which had led with 2769. Record team total, 2987, was rolled by Kornitz of Milwaukee at Grand Rapids in 1947.

The Majors compiled their total on scores of 920-1019-964. Sparking the team was Marion Ladewig with 141-232-245—618. She wound up her third game with eight straight strikes.

Miss Ladewig, national individual all-star match game champion, rolls today in the singles and doubles events.

Leaders in other events are Loretta Rocher and Stevie Balogh of Cleveland in the doubles with 1198, Ellen Destang of New York, in the all-events with 1755, and Vivian Anderson of Ladysmith, Wis, in the singles with 612.

Eleven Western Conference Stars Are NBA Draftees

Chicago, April 26.—(AP)—Out of 119 college stars drafted by the 12-team National Basketball Association, 11 are from the Western Conference.

The Champion Minneapolis Lakers drafted three, Howie Williams and Andy Butchko of Purdue and Bud Grant of Minnesota. The Lakers also got Kevin O'Shea, Notre Dame All-America, while another All-America, Bradley's Paul Unruh, went to Indianapolis. Another Indianapolis selection was Jerry Stuteville of Indiana.

Dick Schnittker of Ohio State, the third All-America from the Midwest, was Washington's first choice. His teammate, Bob Donham, was drafted by Boston.

Wisconsin's Don Rehfeldt, Big Ten scoring champion, was top choice of Baltimore. The Tri City Blackhawks, in addition to getting Bob Cousy of Holy Cross, latched on to Bill Erickson of Illinois.

Wally Osterkorn of Illinois and Lou Watson of Indiana went to the Chicago Stags. Syracuse tagged Mack Suprunowicz of Michigan.

Many of the 119 draftees undoubtedly will also be drafted by a new league, now in process of being organized with Doxie Moore as commissioner. This, of course, will open the door for competitive bidding.

Stags Wanted Share

The Chicago Stags, who have until June 1 to post a $50,000 performance bond in accord with NBA rules (it is the only team in the league which has not filed the bond as yet) spent two hours during the draft yesterday trying to land 6 foot 11 inches Charlie Share of Bowling Green and Rehfeldt.

Boston, however, as last team in the circuit on won-lost percentage, got first choice and nabbed Share—even over Cousy, Boston's home town college star from Holy Cross.

Osterkorn to Chicago

A Stags' spokesman said his club got Osterkorn on the plea that the University of Illinois has a Chicago campus and "the Stags had territorial rights to him."

"Tri-Cities wanted Osterkorn," said the spokesman. "We took Watson of Indiana on the recommendation of Ray Meyer, DePaul coach, that he was the toughest guard he had seen in the last two years."

At Worcester, however, Cousy said he will pass up pro ball rather than play for the Tri City Blackhawks.

Cousy was the Blackhawks' first draft choice.

"I'll pass up pro basketball before I'll play for Tri-Cities," he said. "I would have given pro ball some thought if I had been drafted by Boston or Syracuse," he explained. "They are the only two teams I'd play for."

Cousy currently is barnstorming around New England with "Cousy's All Stars."

"I intend to go into business here (Worchester) and make my home here," he said. "There wouldn't be any sense in my going to the midwest. I'll just continue to play around New England with my own team."

Promotor Had Suspicions of Boxing Fraud

Wichita, Kas., April 26—(AP) —His first suspicion that boxer Jose Rafael Aviles wasn't Tuzo (Kid) Portuguez came when he saw Aviles in the ring here April 5, Promoter Max Yeargain said yesterday.

Testifying at Aviles' preliminary hearing on a fraud charge, stemming from his impersonation of Portuguez, Yeargain was asked why he didn't hold up Aviles' purse.

"I have no jurisdiction to hold up a fighter's purse," he replied. "The state boxing commission does that."

Insists He's Champ

Earlier the Wichita and Topeka, Kas., promoter who signed Aviles as "Portuguez" for the Wichita card said Aviles insisted after the fight that he really was the Central American Middleweight Champion.

Aviles collected his money at a Wichita hotel, Yeargain said, shortly after being knocked out in the first round by Alvin Williams, Wichita Indian.

Plan Alexander Memorial at Georgia Tech

Atlanta, April 26— (AP) — Georgia Tech's famed W A Alexander was buried yesterday, and two hours later the school's athletic board authorized construction of a $2,000,000 physical training center as a memorial.

The board also named Bobby Dodd to succeed Alexander as athletic director. Dodd, former star quarterback at Tennessee, took over head coaching duties from Alexander after the 1944 season.

Dodd came to Tech in 1930 as Coach Alex's assistant. As a student, coach and athletic director, Alexander had been at Tech 44 years prior to his death Sunday.

The memorial physical training center will have a total seating capacity of 16,000, with 10,000 seats for basketball games.

Gardella Sent To Houston of Texas League

Cincinnati, April 26—(AP)— It's back to the minors for Danny Gardella, the half-pint outfielder who caused baseball a lot of legal headaches.

The St. Louis Cardinals sold the former New York Giants fly hawk to the Houston Buffs of the Texas League outright for an undisclosed sum yesterday.

The shift to Texas is just another milestone in the tumultuous career of the little New Yorker who came out of the minors in 1944 to join the New York Giants.

He and a score of other major leaguers were banished for jumping to the "outlaw" Mexican League.

In February, 1948, Gardella sued baseball officials for $300,000 damages, contending his banishment was illegal and deprived him of a livelihood.

When Commissioner A. B. Chandler forgave and reinstated the "jumpers" last year before their five-year suspension was up —Gardella held firm and said he would continue his suit.

But last October during the World Series Gardella unexpectedly announced he was dropping his suit. Under his reinstatement he went to the St. Louis Cardinals.

By MARSH JONES

The Dixon Dukes won their second home meet of the season here yesterday afternoon by defeating Rock Falls by a 60½ to 52½ score.

Senate Cold To Britain's Debt-Passing

Washington, April 26—(AP)—Cold opposition was raised in the senate today to Britain's proposal that the United States shoulder part of Britain's $9,000,000,000 debt to the sterling bloc nations.

Three leaders spoke out vigorously against it and their position was believed to reflect a general feeling among lawmakers.

Here is what they had to say:

Chairman Connally (D-Tex) of the senate foreign relations committee: "The British proposal is astounding. It is my view that the United States cannot and should not entertain the British plan."

Senator Taft of Ohio, chairman of the Republican senate policy committee: "It is an extraordinary presumption on their part to ask us now to assume their debts."

Wherry Opposed, Too

Senator Wherry of Nebraska Republican senate floor leader: "I am not in favor of giving any further aid to Britain."

The British proposal was announced yesterday by high administration officials. It would call for the United States to take care of a big share of Britain's debts to India, Pakistan and southeast Asia.

"When the British loan of $3,750,000,000 was made," Taft said, "it was the clear understanding that it was to help the British bring about a long term settlement of their outstanding sterling debts. The loan never would have been made under other circumstances."

Wherry said the British government's financial statement last month showed the British have a balanced trade budget abroad and a balanced financial budget at home.

"They now have a gold reserve of nearly $2,000,000,000," he said. "Why should we advance them more money?"

The British proposal came in the midst of senate debate over a $3,372,450,000 foreign aid bill which contains $687,000,000 for Great Britain.

Connally criticized his colleagues late yesterday for failing to remain on the senate floor during debate. He said he would demand faster action.

Four on Floor

"The idea of passing on a great measure like this," Connally shouted, "when you can count the senators present on one hand." At the time, only four were on the floor: Elbert Thomas (D-Utah), McFarland (D-Ariz), Wherry and Connally.

Earlier, Democratic Senators Elmer Thomas of Oklahoma and McClellan of Arkansas had introduced amendments to require the Economic Cooperation Administration (ECA) to buy surplus American farm products.

The effect of their moves would be to force Marshall plan countries to buy their farm commodities in the United States—when those commodities were surplus here.

At present, ECA has discretion in such purchases, and encourages buying outside the dollar area wherever possible to save dollars.

In the past, ECA has opposed forced purchases of U. S. surplus crops. The argument is that this policy would hamstring the ECA operation and support the Communist propaganda line that the United States is making Europe a dumping ground for U. S. surplus products.
